Polio Experts Launch Inquiry Into Cutter-Made Vaccine

Push Study Into Cause Of 10 Cases

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Two government polio experts arrived at the Cutter Laboratories in Berkeley, Calif., today to carry out "a very exhaustive investigation" into how some children developed polio after being inoculated with Salk vaccine made by the Cutter firm.

There was no indication of when the specialists—Drs. Karl Habel and John Tripp—might reach a conclusion and report their findings.

In the meantime, the Public Health Service raised to 11—then reduced to 10—the number of cases in which children were found to have developed polio after being vaccinated with the Cutter vaccine.

It said the California Department of Health said a reported case at San Mateo, upon further observation, had turned out not to be polio.

The Health Service tabulates only those cases officially reported to it. There have been additional cases reported in the states, which have not reached Washington through official channels, including several in California involving the Cutter vaccine also, and one in Georgia involving the use of vaccine made by Eli Lilly & Co. of Indianapolis.

While the service yesterday ordered the recall of all Cutter vaccine outstanding, it said there was "no reason at this time to withdraw any lots made by Eli Lilly."

The Health Service said the occurrence of one case did not warrant any action, noting that Georgia officials reported that incubation of the disease may have been under way before vaccination.

Officials also have emphasized that they have no evidence that the Cutter vaccine is faulty; the stop order was issued as a precautionary measure pending a study.

Other polio developments today included:

Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire, (ret.) former surgeon general, said in a speech at Los Angeles that "Parents should go ahead with the vaccination of their children with the Salk polio shots. The scattered cases reported after vaccination probably would have developed anyway."

Health and school officials of Oakland, Calif., abandoned plans for any mass inoculation this year. This did not preclude parents arranging for inoculation by private physicians.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, in New York, had no comment on Oakland's decision.

However, it was learned that at least two areas where the Cutter vaccine was withdrawn—Los Angeles County and Hawaii—have asked and been assured of replacement supplies of vaccine so they can go ahead with their programs.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele reiterated here that withdrawal of the Cutter vaccine should not cause any change in plans of parents to have their children inoculated.

With the figure of officially reported post-vaccination cases of polio involving the Cutter brand of vaccine revised to 10, this was the tabulation:

California 6, including 3 in San Diego and 1 each in Ventura, Napa and Oakland; Chicago 1; Denver 1; and Idaho 2, including a fatal case. In addition, three cases at Los Angeles and 1 at Riverside, Calif., were reported to be polio but the Public Health Service had not yet been advised of them.

The spokesman, in relaying Dr. Scheele's reiteration of confidence in the Salk vaccine, said the surgeon general ruled against any comment at this time on:

What the investigation encompasses, how long it may take, whether batch numbers have been obtained for the vaccine used in the areas in which cases developed, and on progress being made.

Clague Renamed To Old Position

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Ewan Clague to be commissioner of labor statistics for a term of four years.

Clague held this job in the Truman administration but his term expired last Aug. 20. Since then, he has been a special assistant to Secretary of Labor Mitchell while the labor statistics post remained vacant.

AN EMPLOYEE of the Teterboro, N. J., plant of the Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif., is shown packaging Salk polio vaccine that has been ordered withdrawn by the U. S. Department of Health. The drug firm's officials moved speedily to take from the market serum it had turned out, after reports of 10 cases of paralytic polio among children inoculated with its product. U. S. Surgeon General Leonard Scheele issued a statement that he had complete faith in the Salk vaccine and urged against alarm over the development. The victims, he said, might have been exposed to polio before getting their shots.

Almost All Eligible Pupils Report For Anti-Polio Shots

SALK INOCULATIONS went ahead on schedule in Monroe County yesterday.

There were no hitches in the program set up for the West End and Mount Pocono. Doctors gave the shots to 236 first and second graders. Response to continuation of the program without interruption was "wonderful," health officials said.

Only about eight children did not get the vaccine during the day.

Most of these children were absent from school. They'll get their shots later, doctors assigned to the five schools indicated.

Today the final group of children will be given the vaccine.

Inoculations at Smithfield Township School near Shawnee are set up for 9 a.m. Dr. M. J. Leitner will be in charge.

During yesterday's inoculations 217 of the children were first and second grade pupils in Chestnut Hill, Hamilton, Eldred and Polk Schools.

The doctor in charge was Dr. John Martucci, Brodheadsville. He was assisted by Mrs. Ann Shafer and Mrs. Doris Mader.

Greatest number of these children received the shots at Hamilton Elementary School, Sciota, where Martucci reported 83 first and second graders got the free shots.

Total inoculations at Chestnut Hill were 51; at Eldred, 30 and at Polk, 53.

At Mount Pocono School, Dr. David Kohn, assisted by his wife, gave the vaccine to 19 children.

In its third day, the Salk vaccine program for schools had become a nearly standardized thing. The children showed little or no fear. They were completely cooperative and the program moved forward rapidly.

Inoculations began in the West End at Chestnut Hill at 9 a.m. where Dr. Martucci had his first appointment. From Chestnut Hill the physician and the two nurses went to Hamilton. Finished there, they went on to Eldred School and then on to Polk.

The last shot was given at Polk at 2:45 p.m.—only five hours and 45 minutes after the four-school program had begun. Driving from school to school consumed nearly an hour of that time.

When today's shots at Smithfield are finished, the first step in the mass immunization of first and second graders against polio will have been completed.

This is the first of two shots planned under the system set up by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. A second shot will be administered a month from now, probably about May 24.

The program for first and second graders is completely cost-free. The National Foundation is paying for vaccine used in both shots.

All Monroe County doctors who have taken part in the program are contributing their time and services free. So are the nurses and the volunteers who have kept the records of each shot administered.

At the end of yesterday's inoculations a total of 1,357 children in Monroe had received the vaccine.

HARRISBURG, April 28 (AP)—The State Department of Revenue reported today that H. Earl Pitzer, director of the Bureau of Highway Safety, has resigned.

German Pacts Receive Final Endorsement

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, April 28 (AP)—West German rearmament received its final parliamentary blessing today. The Dutch Senate cast a historic 32-2 vote for the Paris treaties. It was the last West German endorsement needed to bring Western Germany into the Western Alliance against communism.

The Dutch lower house approved the pacts 71-6 March 30. So now, after nearly five years of emotional and political struggle, the parliaments of all 15 nations affected have voted for West Germany's sovereignty and the right to recruit armed forces that will eventually total a half million soldiers, sailors and airmen.

Ceremonies marking West Germany's change from a former enemy to a full Western power will take place early next month—10 years after the unconditional surrender of Hitler's Reich. The signed treaties will be deposited in various capitals, formal diplomatic notice that they are in effect.

The Bonn Republic's enrollment in a seven-nation Western European Union and in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is planned at foreign ministers' meetings opening in Paris May 7.

Martin Proposes Toll Road Linking
East, West Coasts

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—A transcontinental toll road connecting the east and west coasts was proposed today by Sen. Martin (R-La.).

He introduced a bill to permit negotiation of an interstate compact providing for the highway. Participating would be Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, California, and any other states interested.

Martin's bill provides that the highway connect with the Pennsylvania Turnpike east of Pittsburgh and extend to San Francisco along the general course of present U.S. 40.

Any compact negotiated would have to be ratified by legislatures of all participating states and by Congress.

Leader Thinks Economies Will Develop Later

HARRISBURG, April 28 (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader said today economies in his administration will show up at the end, not the beginning of the Commonwealth's two-year fiscal year starting June 1.

He made the statement when asked at a news conference if his campaign statements on economies jibe with the record-breaking $1,842,000,000 budget he submitted to the Legislature last week.

When the Legislature approves creation of a 12-member government reorganization commission, he said, the "really big job" of reforms can be started.

"I'm convinced there can be substantial savings," he added.

Other savings, he said, will turn up by "a tight system" of allocating money to department heads and by keeping records of state disbursements on an actual day-to-day basis.

"They (departments) are going to have to justify their expenditures," he said. "Whether or not we have succeeded in economizing . . . the answer is going to have to show up at the end of the biennium—not the beginning."

The governor last week asked the legislature to raise 621 million dollars in new taxes, including 411 millions by a classified income tax, to balance the budget for the next biennium.

The 37-year-old chief executive said he welcomed legislative hearings opening next week on the budget, adding:

"If they can find any fat in the budget, I shall be the first one to hope they can take it out."

He also asked that critics of his budget be specific and list items which can be cut out.

Leader then lighted into previous Republican administrations for what he said was the financial dilemma he inherited.

Of the 521 million dollars in general funds taxes he has requested, Leader said, only 111 millions is for projects to be financed at his own request.

These include 37½ millions for mental, nearly 35½ millions for industrial development, 16 millions for increased salaries and expenses to departments, 11½ millions in additional state aid to colleges and 7½ millions for more state aid to hospitals.

"This (the 111million dollar figure) is a very modest little budget which I put in which can be charged to this administration," he told reporters.

The remainder, he explained, came from the administrations of Republican Governors John S. Fine and James H. Duff.

Asked if, as a state senator, he voted for some of these legislative commitments, Leader replied:

"I fully expect I voted for some of them. I am not criticizing them (Republicans) for the program they laid out as much as I am criticizing them for failure to build an adequate tax program to pay for them."

In another development, Chairman J. Dean Bolen (D-Washington) said his House Appropriations Committee would ask about Leader's campaign pledge to raise 24 millions in taxes simply by administrative action.

June Draft Quota
Set At 10,000

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The Army today issued a draft call for 10,000 men in June.

The quota is the same as that previously announced for May. The April call was for 8,000 men—the lowest of any month since the draft resumed shortly after the outbreak of war in Korea.

The June call brings to 1,802,430 the number of men drafted or earmarked for induction since the resumption of Selective Service.

Arsonist Sought In Chicago After Separate Fires Claim Lives Of At Least 12 Persons

CHICAGO, April 28 (AP)—Flames raced through two Chicago buildings, one of them a walkup hotel, today taking a toll of at least 12 lives.

Eight bodies, including that of a fire captain who died fighting the blaze, were recovered from the ruins of the Green Mill Hotel and a search for other possible victims continued.

Three children and their uncle were killed in the second fire in an apartment building less than a half-mile from the stricken hotel.

Some 20 persons leaped from windows of the hotel, which occupied the upper three floors of a four-story building, and were injured. Others were carried down ladders. Seven firemen were hurt fighting the fires.

Authorities said there was evidence that the hotel fire was set off by an arsonist. Earle Downes, a fire department attorney, said he believes an arsonist dumped flammable material on the hotel stairway leading from the street to the second floor and then ignited it.

Coroner Walter J. McCarron said he concurred in this belief.

Police said they are investigating the possibility that both fires were deliberately set. They noted the proximity of the two buildings and found that both fires broke out only minutes apart. Both fires occurred about 1 a.m.

Downes said a resident of the hotel told him the fire burst forth on the stairway less than five minutes after he had used the stairs to enter the hotel. The witness reported there were no signs of fire when he used the stairs.

Both buildings are in the Halsted Street-Milwaukee Avenue area, a short distance northwest of Chicago's Loop. More than 80 persons were reported in the hotel when the blaze erupted.

Ford Steers Middle Course
Between Creeping Socialism,
Guaranteed Annual Stagnation

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Henry Ford II said tonight he has no hesitation in fairly examining a guaranteed annual wage or any other theory for stabilizing labor. The word "security" doesn't scare him, he added.

But the president of the Ford Motor Co. warned against any rigid freezing of the labor pattern. He called automation—the replacement of men by machines—a grossly inflated labor issue.

With only passing mention of the guaranteed annual wage as such but with it apparently much in mind, Ford told the annual dinner of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. in a prepared speech:

"Perhaps what is needed is a new kind of prosperity insurance policy based on a reasonable, businesslike, pay-as-you-go plan, with limited and predictable costs."

Ford's company, one of the auto industry's big three, now is bargaining with the CIO United Auto Workers. One union goal is a guarantee of pay for so many weeks a year despite any layoffs that may occur.

The 37-year-old auto magnate urged industry to examine "fairly and fearlessly all means which, consistent with free enterprise, will enhance our future prosperity and security, as individuals and as a nation."

Ford said he personally has a big stake in steady employment.

"But not just because unemployment might lose me some customers," he went on. "I realize how much a real sense of job security would promote the psychology of optimism and well-being which will keep us moving forward at top speed. It would minimize resistance to technological progress and change. It could destroy much lingering hostility to the business system and promote industrial peace."

"There's no question in my mind, then, that we should continue to explore means to so desirable an end."

On the other hand, Ford continued:

"I, for one, am highly impatient with the reactionary thinking of some union leaders, who stand resolutely against progress, who resist the introduction of new machines and methods, who seek to preserve obsolete trades and skills, who generally are wedded to the mean and miserly concept of a mature economy that's going nowhere—in short, the advocates of guaranteed annual stagnation."

"I am just as impatient with the slavish and stereotyped thinking which has led some businessmen to consider 'security' a bad word and to brand all concern for human and social progress as communism or 'creeping socialism.'"

"I'm all for chasing the sacred cows out of the stables of business."

The general recalled that in 1951 when President Eisenhower took command of the infant NATO, he asked a "cynical" general what the Reds would need to march to the English Channel. He said the reply was, "General, all they need is shoes."

"They need more than shoes now," Gruenther told the senators. "They would have to bring in additional forces from the Soviet Union. They could do that, but we would have warning."

The NATO leader offered this capsule estimate of Russian strength:

"Their land forces are 'very good'; their air force is 'reasonably good'; what they don't have in quality they make up in quantity; they have a 'relatively weak' surface navy, but there is a continuing emphasis on submarines."

At present, a worker's pension stops one month after his death.

Rebels Battle Pro-Western Government

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, Friday, April 29 (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's pro-Western government waged an all-out shooting battle for survival today against the private racketeer army of Binh Xuyen.

More than 100 persons were killed and about 500 wounded in the first nine hours of fighting.

The rebel organization of former river pirates opened the battle early Thursday afternoon with mortar fire on the Premier's palace.

For hours, shellfire rocked this French-Oriental metropolis of two million people. Once the city was called the "Paris of the East."

Now it is an unkempt place packed with refugees from Communist North Viet Nam.

A square mile of the city has been put to the torch by the shooting of open civil war.

The government announced early today the national army had captured seven strongholds of the rebellious former river pirates.

As a police force the Binh Xuyen has controlled the South Viet Nam capital's gambling, prostitution and other enterprises.

The fall of two of the strongholds cleared the army's road to the Binh Xuyen's headquarters in the refugee-crowded Chinese suburb of Cho Lon. One government report said the headquarters of the rebel chief, Gen. Le Van Vien, had been destroyed.

Earlier, the government had announced that the Binh Xuyen had been driven away from national army headquarters and national security police headquarters.

An American source, who declined to be quoted by name, said Premier Diem now had to meet the Binh Xuyen challenge "firmly and with force."

"If he stops now he might as well resign because he will not be able to govern again," the American said.

In Washington Gen. J. Lawton Collins, special U. S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, reported to the White House a few hours after the fighting started. He was understood to have told President Eisenhower and a two-hour National Security Council meeting that future American policy in Viet Nam could be affected drastically by the outcome of the clash. The United States has been strongly supporting the Diem government as the best available choice to mold a strong South Viet Nam to withstand the challenge of the Communist-held North.

(One Washington report said the Binh Xuyen had only enough supplies for three days' fighting.)

Premier Diem's secretary, Vo Van Hai, said the army captured two Frenchmen in one Binh Xuyen stronghold, a printing plant. They were placed under arrest.

The French, who have been lukewarm in their support of the Diem government, reported 10 of their officers were wounded, five of them by mortar explosions in Camp Des Mares, which houses French headquarters. Five other French military men were wounded at the central power station and in scattered fighting, the French said.

Mortar shells also landed in the compound of the French army newspaper Caravelle.

Fighting broke out after the 5,600-man Binh Xuyen force bombarded the Premier's palace with mortar shells and attacked army and police headquarters.

The Premier, who had been induced through French efforts to observe a truce during the past month, thereupon ordered three battalions of infantrymen and paratroopers into action.

Luxury Liner's
Passengers Lose
Luggage In Fire

COBLENZ, Ireland, April 28 (AP)—The captain of the Cunard liner Britannia reported today fire raged through a baggage hold and destroyed passengers' luggage and mails while the ship was at sea.

Most of the 60 passengers who disembarked here from the 27,666-ton liner had lost their trunks.

Cap. G. H. Morris said the fire broke out in No. 4 hold Saturday when the ship was just out of New York. It took more than five hours to bring it under control, he said.

He said four automobiles, 559 bags of mail and 221 heavy trunks were stored in the hold.

Officials declined to estimate the extent of the damage. There were no casualties, Morris said.

GEN. EARLE E. PARTRIDGE, 55, a veteran of more than 70 air missions in the Korean War, was named by President Eisenhower to head the Continental Air Defense Command. Gen. Partridge, who rose from a World War I Army private to become a combat aviator, is now Far East Air Forces Commander. Gen. Partridge will succeed Gen. Benjamin W. Chidlaw, who retires next month.

Soviets Held Inferior In Air Capability

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther says that when it comes down to the capacity for delivering nuclear weapons, "The Soviets are not in the same league with us."

"In spite of the Soviet strength, if they went to war today they would lose," he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. "Because of our overwhelming air capability."

Gruenther, commander in Europe for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, testified March 26. His testimony, after being heavily censored for security items, was made public today.

The general recalled that in 1951 when President Eisenhower took command of the infant NATO, he asked a "cynical" general what the Reds would need to march to the English Channel. He said the reply was, "General, all they need is shoes."

"They need more than shoes now," Gruenther told the senators. "They would have to bring in additional forces from the Soviet Union. They could do that, but we would have warning."

Case History Emphasizes Role Of Cancer Society

(This is an actual cancer case history. Two years of the case have been changed and the last name deleted to avoid further suffering in the family.)

IN 1954 there were 65 deaths due to cancer reported in Monroe County.

Joseph was one of those 65 men and women.

His case is not typical of cancer as a disease in 1954 or 1955, however. Up to the time he was admitted to Monroe County General Hospital, Joseph had shown no "symptoms" of cancer, he thought.

More than likely the symptoms were there. But like many another cancer victim, Joseph may not have recognized them for the danger signals, the warnings they really were.

But Joseph had led a healthy existence. It was natural that he should ignore, at 62, a feeling of strong fatigue if it should occur. It was in his 62nd year that cancer was found.

He was dead 16 months after the day of discovery.

There was one—and probably only one—reason that cancer caused Joseph's death: It was not discovered soon enough.

This is Joseph's story. The facts were given by Joseph's son. It wasn't easy for the son to sit down and go over the story and it's not a pleasant story to write.

Joseph's son—like most relatives of cancer victims—believes that something must be done to warn men and women to watch within their own lives for the danger of cancer.

It, just once, he told the reporter, every man and woman could see first-hand the suffering that goes with cancer, no one would ever need to be told again to ask his doctor for a complete physical examination.

No one would need to be told the value of finding cancer in its earliest stage.

At first Joseph had thought of the attack only as a case of yellow jaundice. He went to his doctor to find out what could be done to get rid of it, put him "back in shape" again.

The doctor gave him a physical examination. When it was finished, he told Joseph it would be a good idea for him to go to the hospital. A preliminary examination had convinced the doctor that a possible gall bladder condition might be causing the trouble.

At the hospital, X-rays were taken. Read by experts, the X-rays showed a serious "block" in the area of the pancreas. The surgeon who talked with the family afterward told the son they could not tell, exactly, what the block was.

It could be caused by gallstones, he said. Then again, it could just as easily be a tumor. The block had to be removed, that much was certain.

Hours later, on the operating table, the surgeons found a malignant growth. Tests of the tissue were made. The diagnosis came. Joseph was suffering from cancer of the pancreas. It was already in an advanced stage.

In an effort to stop the rampant growth of cancer in the area of the pancreas, the surgeon held another conference with the family, explained the problem.

He was completely honest with them. The cancer had gone too far, undetected, for there to be more than a slim chance of Joseph's recovery. The only thing the surgeon could do, he said, was to operate again, removing all traces of the malignant growth.

What were the chances for saving Joseph's life?

Practically none, the doctor answered. The family talked it over. If another operation might help, then it should be done, they said.

The operation was begun. But it was abandoned almost immediately. Joseph's heart was too weak to stand up under the pressure. He was 62 and he had worked hard all his life.

From this point onward, life became a day-to-day thing for Joseph's family. On one thing they and the surgeon completely agreed: Joseph must not know that he had cancer, he was not to be told he was dying.

Back in his hospital room, Joseph reasoned that the operation had been successful; that he was "recovering" in a slow, methodical way.

Joseph had none of the despair his wife felt in her heart. If the cheerfulness and gaiety his family showed in facing him was false, he did not see it. There was hope, still, in the old man's heart. And each day brought him closer to his home.

Victims of pancreas cancer usually die quickly, a doctor told the son. In an advanced stage, such as Joseph's case, it would be only a matter of a few weeks, he said.

But the days passed, the weeks went by and, finally, on the weekend after Easter Sunday, the doctors gave Joseph's family permission to take him home. There was nothing more surgery or hospitalization could do.

Before leaving the hospital, Joseph's family had a long conference with one of the surgeons assigned to the case. The doctor urged the family to contact the Monroe County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

The society unit, he said, would provide free bandages—unavailable for the most part on the commercial market and terribly expensive when you could get them. A visiting nurse would also be assigned to the case whose fee—in full or in part—would be paid by the Cancer Society Unit.

The contact was made. From the time Joseph went home, until he died seven months later, hundreds of dressings went to his home.

The help the unit gave was one of the few encouraging, hopeful things to happen to Joseph's family during the bleak year of his death.

(The first of two stories on an actual cancer case.)

Lab School Kindergarten Stages Annual Circus Today

A FISH PLAYS THE PART of an elephant this afternoon at Teachers College.

This remarkable feat will be one of the features of the annual kindergarten circus to be staged at 1:30 p. m. at the Laboratory School. This particular fish is named Richard. And he's cast as a "pink elephant" in the animal acts under the "Big Top."

Other "elephants" will include Stephen Reinhardt, Donald Setzer, Allen Fabel and William Weidie. Their trainer is Deborah Reese.

Ringmaster for the proceedings will be Gerald Hazen. Others in the cast include the following:

Elmer Dietrich as the strong man; Christian LaBada, Doty Jane Sarley, Diane Klingel, Joseph Sobinski and Jean Ann Kunkle as tumbler; Deborah Whitmore as a snake charmer; Elliot Brown as an organ grinder man.

Among the "ladies on the tight-rope" will be Linda Blewitt, Donna Featherman, Linda Dittman and Patricia McMahon. David Hamill, Donna Marie Sabinsky and Gail Silver will be the trapeze artists. Clowns will include Donna Burch, Gloria Jean Fenner, Bonnie Possinger and Pamela Decker.

Richard Kunkle will play the part of "Oscar, the trained seal". Lions will be played by Robert Dildine, Randolph Krammer, Jerry Lantz, and their trainer will be Carolyn Rheinheimer. Other animals to appear as star attractions will be Robert Pollan, a penguin; Jonathan Serfass, a "bunny"; Karen Gondell, a duck; Kenneth Lockard, a "Kitty Kat" and Michael Chocek as a "leopard" who, contrary to custom, can change his spots.

The program is directed by Marie C. Brown, supervisor of the Lab School kindergarten in conjunction with the student teachers, Sandra Schappel, Wanda Richline and Barbara Phillips.

Over The Waves

The U.S. Atomic . . . or whatever Uncle Sam's nuclear-powered freighter is called . . . is a dramatic idea.

The vision of an atomic ship, we know, is not so wild a dream. We already have the submarine Nautilus, another one called the Sea Wolf under construction, and there's been talk of atomic warships and planes.

The drama in President Eisenhower's announcement of plans for the freighter is that the ship would be sent on a world tour to emphasize the peaceful use of the atom. It would let other people throughout the world know—by seeing—that Americans prefer the constructive forces of the atom to its destructive uses.

At the earliest it will be 1957 before the U.S. Atomic can be launched—providing Congress appropriates the funds. (The Nautilus cost about $55,000,000.)

Two years is a long time to wait . . . because, as yet, man is still a babe in this vast new world of nuclear scientific industry.

In the meantime, what's stopping us from sending the Nautilus on a world cruise?

And why not send an atoms-for-peace exhibit along with her to be set up in every port of call?

A New Car 'Extra'

In that great American competition, selling new automobiles, rival manufacturers have come up with more unusual accessories and mechanical innovations than you possibly could begin to list.

They offer the new car buyer all sorts of "extras"—everything from an extra souped-up dingus that will pump out more gas and speed to the fanciest assortment of colors that ever came down the pike.

The over-whelming sales pitch has been more power, more speed, and looks.

Cars are better than they ever were before. There's no disputing that—except on a couple of points. One is that the wider and longer new models are a lot tougher to park or get in a garage. Another is the matter of safety. Today's swanky new cars are no safer than the models that came off the assembly lines between 1940 and 1949. Don't take our word for it. It says so in an elaborate and documented study recently presented before the Safety Division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The same old factors accounted for injury and fatality in both the old cars and the new ones, the study showed. One of them: Front doors opening with the same frequency under impact, and occupants being ejected out onto the hard ground or concrete. Another one: Car occupants being slammed against or through windshields, dashboards and assorted other things in the interior of any automobile.

We've often wondered why one of the auto manufacturers didn't come up with an "extra" that would cut down this hazard. What the "extra" would have been apparent for some time and has been recommended by one safety specialist after another. It's seat belts for automobiles, just like the ones in airplanes.

A few drivers have them. But they've had to go out and have them built special—a process both costly and time-consuming.

At long last, one of the big auto manufacturers has announced that the seat safety belts are being offered as dealer-installed, optional equipment on all of its new models.

Rosenberg, Salk Came From Same Type Of Environment, Same College In New York

Recently I went up to the City College of New York to debate the more or less moot question of whether Communists should be permitted to teach in the schools. All the time I was there I could not help but think of two men, both of whom had been students of this school, Julius Rosenberg and Dr. Jonas Salk.

Both originated in identical environments. Both were New York boys of Jewish parentage. One was brought up on what is called the Lower East Side; the other in the Bronx. I know what their lives were because I spent my boyhood in the same atmosphere. Some of the younger sociologists would call us slightly underprivileged which we never were, but that is another matter. We all lived in crowded tenements, in close quarters. We were all products of the New York City public school system; we all went to public high schools. Our parents made great sacrifices to provide for our education. What we lacked in wealth, we made up in enthusiasm and earnestness.

Julius Rosenberg died in the electric chair, a traitor to his country. Dr. Jonas Salk is honored not only for his persistent scientific work which may save millions of lives but even more for his unerring self-sacrifice, his humility, his profound sense of service.

Both came from the same environment. Both went to the same free college. Both were of an age, a few years apart, and may have had the same instructors. What made the difference?

When I was a student, no one would think of attending a public gathering without a jacket and a necktie, nor would we in any manner show disrespect for our elders. And we knew that they were our elders. We accepted it as an indisputable fact that if a man spent 20 or more years working in a field and achieved the eminence of being a professor in an outstanding university, he knew more about his subject and was likely to have better judgment than a sophomore.

Not that we did not argue and differ and debate but we dared not cross the line where difference of opinion became boorishness and disrespect. The emphasis was on respect. And it was a two-sided emphasis. The professor who did not hold the respect of colleague and student was asked to leave and there were no two ways about that.

In my day, there was no catering to youth; the converse today is probably one of the principal causes for what is called juvenile delinquency. Young people require discipline, self-discipline, if they are capable of it; external discipline, if that is the only way. The assumption that because a person is young, his indiscretions, impudence and lack of integrity need to be tolerated has not proved itself to be correct.

She was outraged when I said that I would not. I gave this example: Suppose a speaker advised a body of students not to register for the draft. Would I defend his right to do it. I would warn the students that this man is leading each one of them to a prison sentence.

Breakfast Food Deed Opens Visions Of Yukon Vacations

This summer, for once, there isn't much room for argument over where our family should go on its vacation.

Clearly the thing to do is to take a trip into the Yukon Territory and look over our newly acquired property up there. I understand it's beautiful country.

Lest anyone get the wrong impression, I hasten to point out that we haven't belonged to the Canadian landed gentry very long and that our place is an extremely modest holding—"comprising by admeasurement one square inch more or less."

We got it in a box of breakfast cereal. The deed for it, that is—which seems to be in order, as nearly as I can tell.

Even though the tract is small, I assume that it is subject to a certain amount of expansion in warm weather. Besides, inasmuch as it is right in the middle of the old Klondike gold fields, we are rather hoping that its quantitative shortcomings will be offset by its quality.

Of course we try to be realistic in matters of this kind and don't really expect the land to produce gold in any great amounts. We plan to keep our feet on the ground and just hang onto the place as an investment.

I remember some of those gaffers back in my old home town who could afford to wear suit pants and white shirts and sit in the shade on the bank steps on hot summer afternoons. They made their money by buying up land when it was dirt cheap and sitting tight 40 or 50 years until it was worth two, three hundred dollars an acre. Always seemed to me like a pleasant way to get rich.

Naturally a mere square inch of land would be no great shakes even at $300 an acre. Especially when it's located in a Yukon-type climate.

But sometimes a small piece of land has a nuisance value away out of proportion to its physical size. I hear talk that the axis of the earth may shift again some day and reshuffle climate all over the place. Those frozen wastes up around Dawson City might very well wind up as the garden spot of North America—just the locale for a great new metropolis.

Suppose such a city did mushroom up and somebody wanted to put up a skyscraper or a parking garage or supermarket or something. Stranger things have happened than that our little inheritance might be right smack in the middle of the best location in town for such a project.

Don't think I wouldn't hold out for a tidy little price for that tract.

In the meantime it should be a good place to spend summers. Chances are that we'll find a lot in common with the neighbors. If nothing else, we all like the same kind of breakfast food.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Humphrey Has New Plan To Force Debt Limit Increase

Washington, April 29—Treasury Secretary George Humphrey has a surprise up his sleeve for the Democratic leaders of Congress.

He proposes to put them on the spot about raising the national debt limit.

Instead of asking Congress for a specific increase as he did last year, Humphrey is switching strategy and is going to leave it up to the Democrats to decide what is being done about this crucial financial problem.

The issue can't be avoided. On June 30, the temporary $6,000,000,000 rise expires and the national debt reverts to its previous $275,000,000,000 ceiling.

Humphrey plans to break his sad news to the Democratic chiefs by June 1.

It will be in the form of a report to the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee, which have jurisdiction over this vital legislation. He will tell them that.

That he has kept his promise, when the one-year increase was authorized, to bring the debt back down below the $275,000,000,000 level. By June 30, Humphrey estimates the total will be around $274,000,000,000.

But in the following six months, the Treasury Secretary anticipates a debt jump of $5,000,000,000.

To cope with that situation, Humphrey will cite two alternatives: (1) again raising the debt limit, or (2) hiking taxes to provide the additional required money—a wholly improbable likelihood.

That means another debt boost, and Humphrey's strategy will be to say, in effect, "You take it from here." He will leave the size and nature of the increase strictly up to Congress.

Last year, Humphrey proposed and battled vigorously for a permanent rise to $290,000,000,000. He was licked largely by one man—Senator Harry Byrd, now chairman of the Finance Committee.

All Humphrey was able to get was the temporary $6,000,000,000 compromise that the powerful Virginian finally approved.

This year, Humphrey feels that two important factors are working in his favor. They are President Eisenhower's multi-billion dollar plan for increased highway construction, and militant Democratic demands for large-scale federal school aid. These two projects will appreciably increase government spending and next year's likely deficit—and the need for a higher debt ceiling.

House Democratic leaders are saying privately they are willing to vote another one-year extension of the temporary $6,000,000,000 rise.

Senator Byrd is saying nothing, and sternly watching developments.

Words of Wisdom — Speaker Sam Rayburn, who is serving his 22nd consecutive term (44 years) in Congress, gave some valuable advice to a group of rookie members.

The astute Texan's views won't be found in political science textbooks. His comments were short on theory but long on common sense. In effect, Rayburn gave his young colleagues the secret to his success in retaining a congressional seat unbroken for nearly a half century.

The newcomers had asked Rayburn to tell them how best to get re-elected. Following is what he counseled:

"A man elected to Congress should stay as close to his people as he can. He should respond to every reasonable and proper request they make of him, and when Congress adjourns, he should go home and renew his personal contacts with them. It's a lot more important to do that than to go junketing around at taxpayers' expense."

(Rayburn didn't mention it, but he has never done that in all his years in Congress.)

"A member of Congress has two constituencies. The first consists of the voters who elected him, and whom he must serve in order to stay in Congress. If he is popular with them, he will be in a much better position to serve his people than if his colleagues don't like him. I've seen more than one House member defeated because he antagonized his colleagues and that prevented him from giving his people maximum service."

"And don't be ashamed of being called a politician. A good politician is a man of character, courage and intelligence, and an extremely useful citizen. One of our greatest difficulties right now is the lack of good politicians in certain high places I could mention but won't."

High Milk Cost Cuts Down Herds

—by H. G. Heller

Low prices they receive for milk and continued high costs of production are combining to discourage Pennsylvania dairymen with the result that additional herds are being sold. Dr. William L. Henning, State Secretary of Agriculture declared today.

At the same time, he explained, the trend to larger herds and fewer dairy farms is keeping milk cow numbers about one per cent above a year ago, Department surveys revealed.

Improved breeding for greater production per cow and increased efficiency through management of larger herds are factors that have been keeping Keystone State milk production at record levels in recent months, Dr. Henning said. Peak of 1955 production is expected in May and June.

Increased consumption of fluid milk in the home, at school, at work and in public eating places will ease up dairy herd liquidations and assure an adequate supply in the years to come, he declared.

Cash receipts from all Pennsylvania farm marketing last year were down seven per cent from 1953, but there has been little or no let-up on costs of production.

In competition with industry, dairy farmers must pay record-high wage rates for experienced hired hands, he emphasized.

The State agriculture chief said about 30 milk companies in the State have switched from the use of cans to mobile tanks to pick up bulk milk at the farm. Farmers serving these dealers must install cold wall tanks in their milk houses, a move that pays off in the long run but requires a sizable initial investment by the farmer. There are approximately 2,600 such tanks on the State's 40,000 dairy farms at present, he estimated.

Increase In Employment Reported For Two-Month Period

Further Rise Expected In April Totals

EMPLOYMENT totals increased in the Pocono Area during February and March. Unemployment declined.

According to the labor market letter issued today by the East Stroudsburg office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service, the employment increase was due to recall of furloughed employees in local plants.

Further increases are expected this month, with the reopening of full-scale resort activities in the area, the office said.

John P. Dougherty, acting manager of the office, said unemployment compensation claims during the first two weeks in April were below those filed during the same period a year ago.

Labor demand also increased, Dougherty said. The local office received 352 job openings during February and March compared with only 273 openings during the December-January period.

Most of the recent openings are for jobs as camp counselors, waiters, and waitresses. There is a current shortage of experienced clerical workers, Dougherty said.

Some of this shortage may be alleviated by June graduations in Monroe County high schools, however, he continued. Dougherty pointed out that of the 309 students graduating in June an estimated 66 are commercial students.

Of the remaining students, 148 will go into the available labor pool because they do not intend to go on to college.

The total labor supply dropped during the two-month period. The number registered with the office at the end of March totaled 1,343. Total at the end of January was 1,637.

Time Nears For Talks, Eden Thinks

LONDON, April 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Eden said tonight the way is now clear to hold talks with Russia at any level and that he is hopeful about the prospects.

"We are anxious to explore with the Soviet government the possibility of reaching agreement on all outstanding matters between East and West," the Prime Minister told the House of Commons. "We are hopeful that a meeting for this purpose can shortly be arranged."

Laborite Arthur Henderson asked Eden if he would take the initiative in arranging such a conference. Replying, Eden said:

"This is not excluded by the answer I have given—the Allies are now discussing how to handle this matter and I am ready for a meeting at any level."

Eden said two obstacles had stood in the way of a conference with the Soviets — an Austrian treaty and ratification of the treaties rearming West Germany.

"Now, fortunately," he said, "progress has been made with both these matters."

The Netherlands today became the final nation of the 15 involved to give parliamentary approval to the Paris treaties for rearming West Germany. By May 5, the whole ratification process is expected to be completed, giving West Germany sovereignty. The Big Four ambassadors will meet in Vienna May 2 to settle major questions about the Austrian independence treaty.

Atomic Blast Delay Costly To Observers

SURVIVAL CITY, Nev., April 28 (AP)—The Civil Defense atomic test was postponed for the third time today—and the multitude of visiting observers from across the nation began dwindling away as the cost of delay mounted in their time and dollars.

Originally scheduled for last Tuesday, the shot has been held up by unfavorable winds and now cannot be held until at least Saturday.

None of the thousand or more Civil Defense workers and other officials who have crowded Las Vegas since last week raised any question about the wisdom of Atomic Energy Commission experts in again delaying the explosion of a huge atomic device, because winds could have dropped some radioactive fallout on Nevada communities.

But the bill for hotels and meals, in many cases paid out of the pockets of the observers themselves, was becoming substantial as the observers were compelled to prolong their stay in this famous resort city. Business beckoned urgently for some. Seven of ten Congress members who arrived on Sunday left by plane today for Washington, unable to wait out a new schedule for the test.

If the cost of everything is figured in—of the bomb, the test buildings of Survival City, instruments to be destroyed in the explosion, living items for the observers—the price tag for Operation Cue seemed to be something over five million dollars.

This is by no means the highest figure for an atomic test. That record was set with the first "top shot" conducted by the government in 1946 at Bikini. There the destruction of naval target ships, including a big carrier, battleships, destroyers, submarines and small craft helped boost the over-all cost to an estimated 100 million dollars.

It's Cold In Nevada, Says Davis

IT'S JUST been a matter of waiting day-to-day for President Judge Fred W. Davis, Monroe County's Civil Defense coordinator, and Jack Anderson, eastern area CD director who have been at Yucca Flat, Nev., awaiting a demonstration explosion of a nuclear device.

A call here yesterday by Judge Davis disclosed the weather around the "Flat" and Las Vegas is something to be desired. It's not chilly. It's cold.

The briefing of Judge Davis, Mr. Anderson and other CD civilian observers was exhaustive.

Everybody was all set for the blast. But the weather interfered and has interfered hour after hour. First break and the blast—a terrific explosion of tremendous forces—will be over in a matter of seconds.

State Farm Secretary Backs Gov. Leader's Tax Program

PITTSBURGH, April 28 (AP)—Dr. William Henning, state secretary of agriculture, today told the Pennsylvania Assn. of Milk Dealers he is 100 per cent behind Gov. George M. Leader's tax program.

He said his department will cost more to operate for he intends to spend more. Salaries are too low and he is unable to get competent personnel, he told the group's convention adding:

"I intend to have a better department than my predecessor."

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph said it has learned that a proposal under which the more milk is bought the less it will cost a quart may be put into effect this summer in western Pennsylvania.

The newspaper said reliable sources attending the association's meeting indicated that Pittsburgh district dealers are preparing to ask for a hearing on the question before the State Milk Control Commission.

It is understood, the Sun-Telegraph said, that they will ask either to be allowed to sell cut-rate half-gallons or put into effect a system by which the second, third and fourth quarts bought each day cost less than the first.

Currently, a quart of milk costs 24 cents at the store. There is no saving in buying by volume.

250 Children Of Choirs To Give Concert

ABOUT 250 members of the youth, junior and church choirs of churches represented by members of the Organist Guild will give a concert in East Sprodsburg Methodist Church Sunday, May 15 at 4 p. m.

The musical treat is sponsored by the Pocono Mountains Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, Richard Lindroth, president.

The sponsoring Guild hopes the concert will become an annual affair. Immediate aim is to work out a system of including more young people because church concerts of a secular nature have been highly successful. This one, however, is the first church concert of church music by local young people.

The program has been divided into three groups with the following directors:

Numa Snyder, high school group; Mrs. Earl Willhoite, junior age and Mrs. Melvin Dunn, church age.

The three groups will be combined in Processional and Recessional hymns.

First rehearsal for the Junior group is Sunday May 1, 2:45 p. m. in Sprodsburg Presbyterian Church.

Sponsors emphasized yesterday cooperation of parents and directors is essential to the success of this venture.

70 Receive Polio Shots At School

NEWFOUNDLAND -- Seventy first and second grade pupils at the Greene-Dreher-Sterling school received the initial injection of Salk anti-polio vaccine at the school here Wednesday morning.

The inoculations were administered by Dr. A. V. Lupcho and Dr. Frank A. Urdel, assisted by school nurse Elsie Strada. The shots were made available without charge by the National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis and the doctors volunteered their services.

The second injection of the vaccine will be given "in about one month," the doctors said. The third, or "booster," shot will be administered approximately nine months after the second.

Drs. Lupcho and Urdel also inoculated pupils of the Salem Township school Tuesday, Lake Ariel Wednesday afternoon and Gouldsboro yesterday.

Sharp Break Sends Stock Prices Lower

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—An early selling wave and late weakness in stocks combined today to send the stock market lower.

Throughout the day the market was sensitive to earnings and dividend reports, and it seemed to put adverse interpretations on developments as quickly as possible.

There were a lot of losses running from 1 to 3 points and on out to 5 and more. Gains were not too frequent and went to around 3 points at the outside.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off $2.00 at $163.60. The industrial component lost $3.80. The rails were off 90 cents and utilities 30 cents.

The decline in the average was the greatest since March 14 when it slipped $3.90.

The market wasn't very broad with 1,208 individual issues traded of which 277 advanced and 698 declined. There were 47 new highs and 37 new lows for the year touched during the day.

Volume was down to 2,550,000 shares. That compares with 2,660,000 shares traded yesterday. Those totals are well under the daily average so far this year.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly lower on volume of 740,000 shares as compared with 860,000 shares traded yesterday.

Bonds were irregular and narrow. U. S. government issues in the over the counter market were unchanged to higher.

Troop 95 Has Charter Ceremony

A CHARTER presentation ceremony honored Boy Scout Troop 95 of the Delaware Valley Area Council Wednesday night at Paradise Valley School.

The ceremony was conducted by Dr. Francis B. McGarry, chairman of organization and extension in the Pocono District, and Jay Snover, neighborhood commissioner.

The charter and special awards were presented to Anthony E. Bohn, institutional representative. Registration cards were given to the troop leaders and the troop committee. The Scouts received cards from Scoutmaster Carl Hamblin.

A candlelight ceremony was held as members of the troop took their scouting vows. The meeting closed with the recitation of the Scout benediction by Melvin Parker.

The troop, which is sponsored by the Paradise Township Parent-Teachers Association of Swiftwater, earned four awards for outstanding achievements during the year. The awards were a blue belt for increased membership, gold belt for adult leadership, silver belt for quality program, and a special banner for 100 per cent utilization of Boys' Life.

Others participating in the charter festivities were committee personnel members Thornton Counterman, chairman; Russell Felker and Augustus G. Hahn. Also, Donald Widdoss, assistant Scoutmaster, and David E. Nelson, Explorer.

Scoutmaster Hamilton announced plans for a charter review and court of honor to be held by the troop in the near future.

Truman Receives Decalogue Award

CHICAGO, April 28 (AP)—Former President Truman said last night "the only guarantee against a society of fear and cruelty is the principle that the government is not above the law."

"Recent history of other countries has demonstrated that the unrestrained use of force by government is just as great a danger to human progress now as it was ages ago," Truman said in a speech prepared for the annual dinner of the Decalogue Society of Lawyers. Truman was in Chicago to receive the society's 1954 award of merit for outstanding service to humanity.

Willard Bennett Completes Second Year Of Studies At Mexico City College

MEXICO CITY, April 28—Willard B. Bennett, son of Mrs. Hazel Bennett, Stroudsburg, has just completed two years of study at Mexico City College, the only institution of its kind in all Latin America. Though it's not in the U. S., it grants credits and degrees of the state-side type and a large amount of its classes are given in English.

Willard, who is working toward a bachelor of arts degree, with a creative writing major and a minor in journalism, came to MCC following a four and a half-year stint in the Air Force. During that period he was stationed in various parts of the U. S., finishing with a 30-month tour in the Far East.

Aside from his studies at the college, Willard has served as a managing editor of the school's paper, and now holds the job of assistant to the college's public relations director. In the past two years he has written forty-some magazine and newspaper feature articles and printed several pieces of light verse.

During this time he has also been the correspondent south of the border for The Film Daily, and three other trade newspapers. In London, April 28 (AP)—British Equity, the actors' trade union, is trying to devise some method of collecting "admission fees" from those who watch television plays in their homes.

It is a difficult problem, officials admitted, but they were ordered to undertake it by Equity's annual meeting this week.

The proposal to charge home viewers of television plays was made by a television player, John Justin. Equity President Felix Aylmer asked whether he was advocating a form of subscription television. Justin said he was not suggesting any "exact method."

Players complained that they are paid inadequately. A good supporting actor, an Equity spokesman said, may get up to $176 for appearing in a television play of first importance. Fees are fixed by negotiation. Stars get more, but there are no inflated fees.

Americans Aim At Bolstering Far East Defense

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 28 (AP)—A U. S. official said yesterday the mission of Walter S. Robertson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford to Formosa was to strengthen — not weaken — defenses in the Far East.

Nationalist sources insisted neither the assistant secretary of state nor the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff suggested withdrawal from the offshore islands of Quemoy and the Matsu.

Before leaving for Washington today with Radford, Robertson told newsmen talks with President Chiang Kai-shek were concerned with the mutual defense treaty. The United States guards Formosa and the adjacent Pescadore from Chinese Communist attacks.

Dance Recital To Benefit Day Care Center

THE DAY CARE Training Center will benefit from a Spring dance recital May 19 and 20 at 8 p.m., in East Stroudsburg Junior High auditorium.

The recital will be produced by the Roth Dance School and staged by Karen Roth.

Day Care Training Center was organized April 7, 1952, by a group of parents whose children were unable to enroll in public schools. It is designed to instruct Monroe County's physically handicapped and retarded children.

On the first day there were six children and Harriet Sebring, their teacher, Miss Sebring, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, has received advanced training in this special education field.

Funds were painfully limited. Parents spent much of their time searching for housing, looking for a way to pay a teacher's salary, finding money for transportation, equipment and supplies.

The burden was a big one. One problem—housing—was at first solved by East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church whose elders permitted Day Care to use rooms in its basement for classes.

A year later, legislation was passed in Harrisburg placing the school under State control. State, in turn, assumed responsibility for payment of the teacher's salary.

There were still many problems, however. Biggest of these was the cold, hard fact that a number of other children needed the special school. Because State rules say that only eight or nine pupils may be taught by any special teacher, it was necessary to secure a teacher's aide.

Monroe County Association for Crippled Children and Adults stepped into the picture here. The association voted to contribute funds to pay an aide's salary. Mrs. Ca-millie Harvey was brought into this job.

During the past two years the school has been located in, first, the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church and, at present, in the basement of the American Legion Post Home on Washington St.

State aid had been given in two additional ways—Mrs. Harvey's salary is now paid from State funds and some supplies are sent by State. The parents' organization is, however, constantly attempting to find a way for a permanent home. Day Care Training Center is one of the first schools of its kind in the State. The school began with six children; now has an enrollment of 18.

These pupils come from ten Monroe County school districts. At present, the school boards where each child lives, pay an amount toward rent for the school. Gifts have also been made by interested organizations—such as the desks from the Seventh Day Adventist School.

There are still much for which the parents must be responsible—the purchase of supplies for academic and craft work, play equipment and some supplies are sent by State. The parents' organization is, however, constantly attempting to find a way for a permanent home.

care.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Much can be achieved today by study, research, conferences, handling tasks and problems seriously and understanding.

Day favors healthy hobbies, artistic professions, due rest, relaxation.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Achievement in any worthy undertaking is to

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

A new Skittlers attending her first luncheon of the bowling league, gave one look and then gasped "Wow, don't they look different?" They sure did. Socks, slacks, cotton skirt and action-back shirts are for bowling but for the luncheon the furs and fine feathers really blossomed forth.

Haven't seen such a gala group for so these many moons, and in the midst of all the chatter you could have had a bowling alley going full blast and never even heard it.

Well, the next thing on the agenda is golf, I suppose, though there's a heap of luncheons to get through next month, not to mention the pre-graduation hullabaloo. Well, at least I can face the future with a little better conscience and hear the telephone ring without wincing.

The stockpile of stories is gradually working its way down, and a good thing, too, because May is going to be a mighty merry month, socially.

Those fine feathers are going to get pretty bedraggled come the umpteenth luncheon in succession. Meanwhile we've got a perfectly heavenly last Friday of April with only one item on the calendar. Let's relax, shall we?

HARRISBURG, April 28 (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader announced today that the Legislature will be asked to set up a chair of preventative medicine at the University of Pittsburgh to honor Dr. Jonas E. Salk.

Leader told his weekly news conference that a joint resolution would be introduced early next week asking for a $25,000 appropriation to set up the chair in honor of the developer of the Salk anti-polio vaccine.

"Legislators have indicated to me that they will adopt this resolution to honor Dr. Salk for his contribution to medicine," Leader said.

He said the post would be known as the Commonwealth chair of preventative medicine and will be occupied by Dr. Salk.

The House and Senate will hear an address by Dr. Salk Tuesday, May 10, in a joint session at which the Pittsburgh researcher will be presented the Pennsylvania Medal for Meritorious Service.

Payne, Clearview School; and Mrs. Perry Stearns, Smithfield School. Mrs. James Wilson and Mrs. David Toms created several posters which will be on display during the week.

constellation of names that has figured so greatly in the growth of America as those derived from the Bible," said historian Dr. Moshe Davis.

His three-year research indicates more than 1,000 communities labeled with names from the Old Testament alone, about 650 of which got religious designations because of some connection with scriptural accounts.

Take Bethel, Vt., for instance. Like Jacob in the Bible, a founder slept with his head on a rock and next day marked the spot for a church.

During Jacob's sleep at Bethel, he dreamed of an angel-trod ladder to heaven, called the place a "gate of heaven" and built an altar to God. — Genesis 28.

Today, more than a score of American towns bear the name of Bethel — Ark., Conn., Del., Ga., Ill., Ind., Iowa, Ky., Maine, Mich., Minn., Miss., Mo., Neb., N.Y., Ohio, Ore., Pa., Wis., N. M. and two in N.C.

Modern Edens—"and the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden" (Genesis 2) — have blossomed all over the map.

There's an Eden, Ariz., Idaho, Ind., La., Minn., N.Y., Wash., Wis., Wyo., Utah, Ala., Ga., Ill., Md., Miss., Mont., S.D., Vt. and Tex.

Communities named "Zion" — "For God will save Zion . . . and they that love his name shall dwell therein" (Psalms 69)—are located in many states:

Ark., Iowa, Ky., Md., Minn., Miss., Mo., Neb., N.J., Pa., S.C., Utah, Va., W.Va. and two in Ill. There are some 240 places named after saints, many of them apostles, such as St. Paul — Minn., Ark., Ind., Kan., Ky., Minn., Mo., Neb., Ore. and Va. and St. James — Ark., Ill., La., Minn., Mich., Md. and N.Y.

There's an Angels, Pa. and Los Angeles (The Angels) Calif. and Tex., and towns like Devils Lake, N.D. and Devils Elbow, Mo. You'll find a Lordville, N.J.; Lordsburg, N.M.; Lords Valley, Pa.; Christian, W. Va. and Christiansburg in Ohio, Va. and Ky. and Nazareth and Paradise in Pa.

East Stroudsburg Trips Stroudsburg In Seventh Inning, 1-0

Sommers Bests Ray In Thrilling Mound Duel

TWO DEFENSIVE ERRORS in the seventh inning yesterday enabled East Stroudsburg High to gain a thrilling 1-0 verdict over Stroudsburg in the annual baseball "Battle of the Boroughs," held at Gordon Giffels Field.

One of the largest crowds to ever witness a high school baseball battle at the local field watched Bill Sommers, a senior, outpitch freshman Roger Ray in a mound duel that was in doubt right up to the final out.

Sommers and Ray fired away through the first six innings without allowing a single spike to dent the plate, but the only two errors of the game gave the Cavaliers their winning margin in the visiting half of the seventh.

Helmut Gartner, Eastburg right fielder, opened the home half of the seventh by drawing a life on Dick "Pickles" Hintze's error at third base. Ray made a spectacular failing catch of Sommers' attempted sacrifice bunt that popped into the air and just missed doubling Gartner at first.

Gene Plaza hit a long, high fly to right that Don "Ockie" Setzer misjudged and dropped. Gartner raced toward the plate and with the aid of a slow relay from the outfield crossed with what proved to be the winning run. Dick Gray popped to catcher Francis "Fritz" Hassara for the second out and Hassara picked Plaza off third with a throw to Hintze to end the rally.

Dave Nevil opened the Stroudsburg half of the last inning by grounding out, third to first, and Ronnie Stepp followed with a walk. Harry Miller, battling for Doug Nichols, went down on strikes and Charley "Snook" Litts threw out Stepp trying to steal to end the game. Gray made the put-out.

Both Ray and Sommers had anxious moments in the first inning, but each escaped unharmed.

East Stroudsburg loaded the bases on two hits and a hit batsman with only one out in the opening inning. But, Ray got Bob "Red" Kupiszewski and Bill Penzell to hit back to the mound to end the frame, as he made a fine fielding play on Penzell.

Tom Metzgar and Paul "Doc" Lim singled back to back with one out in the bottom of the first, but Sommers put on the brakes and kept them on the remainder of the distance.

Sommers pitched hitless ball the remainder of the distance and retired 14 batters on strikes as the Mountaineers never again presented a threat. Sommers retired the side on strikes in the second and fifth innings.

Ray was in and out of trouble on several occasions, although he allowed only two safe blows after the opening round. Gray singled and advanced to second on an infield out, but was stranded at the midway sack. Kupiszewski doubled with one out in the sixth but died at second.

While Sommers was retiring 14 batters on strikes, Ray had the opposition hitting into the dirt. Lim's brilliant play helped hold the Cavaliers in check during the hotly contested battle.

Both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg play at home today, the former meeting Whitehall at Giffels Field, while the Cavaliers battle Nazareth at East Stroudsburg Playground. Both tussles are set for 4 p. m.

Curt Hickman, a southpaw, will be on the hill for the Cavaliers, while Willie Adelmann fires for the Mountaineers.

Giants Use Big Inning To Nip Cards

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Shoddy fielding by the St. Louis Cardinals during a four-run third inning helped the New York Giants to a 6-4 victory today before only 2,662 fans.

Rightfielder Rip Repulski, third baseman Ken Boyer and shortstop Alex Grammas made errors during the Giants' big inning. New York used singles by Ray Katt, Whitey Lockman and Al Dark, a double by Don Mueller and the three errors to hand Harvey Hadix his first defeat.

Mary Grissom, taking over for Jim Hearn, made his eighth appearance in 13 Giant games and stopped the Cardinals after they had loaded the bases on singles by Wally Moon and Bill Virdon and a walk to Stan Musial with two out in the seventh. Repulski, whose gaudy .417 average dropped to .385 on four hitless attempts, lofted Grissom's first pitch to Mueller for the third out.

After the Giants picked up two more in the eighth for a 6-3 lead, Grissom again had to pitch himself out of deep trouble in the ninth when St. Louis loaded the bases with only one out.

Phillies Defeat Braves, 3-2
PHILADELPHIA, April 28 (AP)—Willie Jones hit a lead-off ninth inning homer tonight to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-2 win over the Milwaukee Braves—Robin Roberts' third victory of the year against one loss.

The Phils tied the ball game up in the eighth. Stan Hamner led off with a double and went to third as Bill Bruton bobbled the ball momentarily. Del Ennis then flied out and Hamner scored with the Phils' second run.

Low Burdette had shackled the Phils for the first seven innings on two hits, both coming in the second when the Phils scored their first run. After Stan Lopata struck out, Willie Jones tripled and scored on Stan Paty's follow-up double.

The Braves tied it with a single run in the fourth. With two out, Joe Adcock doubled to left and came home on Johnny Logan's single.

Pocono Manor Entry Trails By Six Strokes While Seeking Second Straight Las Vegas Title

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 28 (AP)—Knocking three strokes off par, National Open champion Ed Furgol, PGA title holder Chuck Harbert, and newcomer Gene Littler tied for the lead with 69s today in the first round of the $37,500 tournament of champions.

Sam Snead, the favored so-called millionaire mountaineer from West Virginia, took a rear seat for the third straight year in this event, shooting a disappointing 74 to land in 16th place in the field of 21 professional golfers.

Playing under bright, warm skies over the Desert Inn Country Club course, which measures 7,102 yards and has par of 36-36-72, the windup of the first 18 holes found 11 players shooting under par.

Launching a bid for the $10,000 top money, Furgol made the tour with a card of 34-35-69. Harbert and Littler did it in 35-34-69.

Knitted at 70 were Lloyd Mangrum, Bob Toski, Pete Cooper, Jerry Barber and Eric Monti.

Rounding out the par breakers were Cary Middlecoff, Marty Furgol and Mike Souchak, all tied at 71.

Even with par, and still in contention, were Tommy Bolt and Bobby Rosburg, each with 36-36, while Bud Holscher of Santa Monica had a 73.

Snead tied with Bo Winger at 74, while last year's winner, Art Wall Jr., drifted into the 75 bracket with Julius Boros and Doug Ford.

Wall carries the Pocono Manor, Pa. colors.

EAST STROUDSBURG High's undefeated baseball streak is still intact, but it took an unearned run in the top of the seventh and final inning yesterday to give the Cavaliers a 1-0 nod over Stroudsburg High at Gordon St. Field. Bill Sommers hurled his second consecutive shutout, but he had plenty of competition from a plucky little kid by the name of Roger Ray, who kept the Cavaliers away from home plate before his defense sprung leaks in the final frame.

Sommers had his blazing fast ball hopping and his educated curve working brilliantly, especially during the last five innings, as no Stroudsburg runner was able to advance beyond second base. The Eastburg right hander fanned 14 batters, to run his total to 28 in the last two games. Bill was superb in every sense of the word and his mates capitalized on the only two breaks of the game to bring about the victory.

Meanwhile, Ray, a Babe Ruth League player with two more years of eligibility, won the crowd, both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, with the gritty manner in which he handled himself on the mound. The freshman was deliberate and cool like a man many years his senior. Roger was in trouble on several occasions, but each time managed to work himself out of the dark with a fine array of pitches, using a side arm curve as his main weapon.

Nobody will ever forget the manner in which he cleared the decks in the first frame when the Cavaliers threatened to bust the game wide open before most of the fans were comfortably seated in the stands. East Stroudsburg loaded the bases with only one out, but Ray, as cool as the breeze which whipped across the W. Main St. ball yard, got Bob "Red" Kupiszewski and Bill Pennyl, two dangerous hitters, to rack back to the box to knock the rally into a scalded hat.

Ray was extremely good in the fielding department, making no less than three fine plays, one of the brilliant variety in the top of the seventh when he made a scrawling grab of Sommers' bunt and almost doubled Helmut Gartner at first base. But, it just wasn't in the books for the youthful moundman to break into the win column in his first varsity high school start, even though he demonstrated a fighting heart and a fine assortment of mound serves. Ray's defensive ability saved the Mountaineers from early damage as Pennyl's first inning rap near the mound could have been an in-field hit.

When discussing a game such as the one played yesterday the conversation naturally returns to Sommers, regardless of the division of play being touched on verbally. Bill pitched no-hit ball after Tom Metzgar and Paul "Doc" Lim singled in the first inning. Sommers retired the side on strikes in the second and fifth innings. Ray, also touched for two safeties in the opening frame, allowed only two more hits the remainder of the distance.

Lim came up with three brilliant plays at shortstop, each of which called for powerful, accurate throws from the hole between shortstop and third base. Gene Plaza made a great play on Lim's bid for an extra base hit in the initial frame. The blow went for a single, but if it would have skipped past Plaza down the left field line the game may have been a different story as Metzgar was running on the pitch from first base.

Metzgar's stabbing, lurching grab of a twisting line drive off the bat of Tom Michaels in the sixth frame also saved the day for the Mountaineers, as Kupiszewski had doubled with one out in the inning. Bob's two-play wallop was the only extra base knock of the ball game. The fielding during the first six innings yesterday was brilliant, as both clubs finished six frames without an error.

But, Ray was the victim of two very badly played balls in the seventh stanza and the Cavaliers left the field with their third favorable decision in five athletic events against Stroudsburg High during the present school year. Sommers, who will pitch for Johnsonville in the Bi-State League this summer, should be proud of yesterday's victory, but Ray doesn't have a thing to be ashamed of in defeat. Roger may be content with the knowledge that pitching jobs such as he exhibited yesterday will win him a lot of games. It was one of the finest high school diamond encounters ever witnessed by this scribe.

TTHS Scores Twice In Eighth To Decision Polk, 7-5

Errors, Balk Fatal To Losing Club

KRESEGEVILLE — Two runs in the eighth frame enabled Tobyhanna Township to even its Monroe County League baseball record at two wins and a pair of defeats yesterday as the visiting squad earned a 7-5 nod over Polk, here on the latter's home field.

Polk put together all four of its hits and used an outfield collision between DeSanto and Heller to plate all five of its counters in the third and move into a 5-2 advantage.

Heller was forced from the game after the collision, but wasn't seriously injured.

TTHS, behind the four-hit pitching of Willard Costanzo, moved into a 5-2 tie in the fifth frame and went on to win with a pair in the eighth.

A balk by losing pitcher Martin Berger, a mixup in defensive signals and a pair of errors proved fatal to Polk's hopes of gaining its initial win of the campaign.

Berger gave up seven hits and each team collected one extra base blow.

Polk's next outing is next Monday against Coolbaugh, at Tobyhanna. Action is carded for 2 p.m.

Bangor To Oppose Wilson In Lehigh-Northampton Contest

BANGOR—Bangor High School will attempt to break into the win column in the Lehigh-Northampton Baseball League for the first time today when the Slaters oppose Wilson Borough, on the latter's home field.

The game is scheduled to get underway at 4 p.m.

Bangor has dropped circuit verdicts to copy and Nazareth, while Wilson fell before Pen Argyl and then rebounded with a decision over Hellertown.

Larry Raph, senior southpaw, is expected to receive the starting Bangor mound assignment from Coach J. L. Williams today.

The remainder of the Bangor lineup will almost remain intact with Don Keat at first base; Glen Heard, second base; Dick Hess, shortstop; "Jabby" Williams, third base; Vern Smith, left field; Jack Stenlake, center field and Duane Miller, right field. Either Ralph "Barney" Stenlake or Jim Freeman will handle the catching duties for the Slaters.

Bangor faculty athletic manager Paul LeEar yesterday announced two changes in the baseball schedule.

Next Tuesday's scheduled clash with Parkland, at Bangor, has been moved up to Monday. The original slate calls for Bangor and Fountain Hill to clash on Friday, May 6, at Fountain Hill. But the contest has been advanced to Thursday, May 5.

Gary Strauss is expected to receive Monday's mound assignment from Coach Williams.
